Anything for a Change.

How monotonously dreary Life becomes in middle age? Pah! the story makes me weary, Let me quickly turn the page. No adventure, no romances, Nothing new to do or say ;

Dull employment, duller fancies-All the same from day to day. Smoothly ever flows the river : No excitement as of old Sends my pulse an extra quiver, Keeps my heart from growing cold. Straighter than the straighest arrow, Miles before me lies my way ; It is gloomy, it is narrow-Just the same from day to day.

Getting up at eight and feeding ; (Always ham and eggs at nine)-Dawdling, writing, lunching, reading, Till the hour has come to dine. After that I seek protection From blue devils at the play;

Then to bed in deep dejection-Just the same from day to day I would rather take my sorrows Par from Habit's iron bands ; Early train to foreign lands. Other latitudes invite me; Here I cannot, will not stay ; Buch a life begins to blight me-

Just the same from day to day.

Mark Twain says: "I am different from Washington; I have a higher and grander standard of principle. Washington couldn't lie. I ean lie, but I won't."

MATRIMONIAL.-Newly Married Daughter: "Mamma, how long does the honeymoon last?"
Practical Parent: "Until you ask your husband for money, my dear." Medical .- Judy saw a man the other day with something dreadful on his arm. He will probably never get rid of it while he lives, poor fellow!

for it was his wife. her husband that she won't allow him to carry a pocket-handkerchief, for fear he will carry on a handkerchief flirtation with some of the girls. He doesn't mind the handkerchief much, but it is hard on his cont-sleeve.

The eccentric Dr. Byles had at one time a remarkably stopid Irish girl as a domestic. With a look and voice of terror, he said to her in haste, " Go and tell your mistress that Dr. Byles has put an end to himself." The girl flew upstairs, and, with a face of horror, exclaimed at the top of her voice, "Dr. Byles has put an end to himself!" The astonished wife and daughters rushed into the parlor, and there was the doctor calmly walking about with a part of a cow's tail that he had picked up in the street tied to his coat or cassock behind.

The Cleveland police took up a prominent citizen in a sad state of mental aberration the other day, and after restoring him learnt that he had probably lost his mind in trying to remember and deliver the parting message of his wife, who, on kissing him good bye in the morning, told him to "go to the dressmaker and tell ber that she (his wife) had changed her mind, and would have the watered silk made up instead of the poplin; and be sure and tell her," said the wife, that if she thinks it would look better with ten bias flounces without puffing, and box plait-ing below the equator, which should be gathered in hem stitched gudgeons up and down the seams, with gusset-stitch between, she can make it up in that way, instead of fluting the bobinette insertion, and piecing out with point applique,

A UTE SCALP DANCE .- After the etiquette of the occasion was over, the Maunche Utes showed us what was the pleasing custom whenever a good and glossy scalp fell into their hands, by dancing a scalp dance, shouting, screaming, drumming and yelling, while an old and haggard and wrinkled squaw kept the old bucks to their work by joining in the break-down and working assiduously in the semi-religious observance. It was all a wierd and strange and unusual sight, and the dirt and the creepers and the stolid indifference of the average Indians disappeared entirely from the mind, and in their place came up very unpleasant imaginings of very lively shinning around, should that pack of ferocious, and yet very tame, hyenas turn loose upon you. They used up all the breath and power and muscle they had, passed in review again, and went off croning some very unmusical air, and all was quiet .- Los Pinos Corr. Denver News.

as I suggested yesterday."

A SENSIBLE "TREAT." .- The Chronicle of Virginia, Nevada, has the following: Joe Stewart of this city, one of the best men in the country, though a sporting man, has made an innovation on the American custom of "treating," which the friends of temperance throughout the world will applaud. Yesterday he was standing on C street, between the door of a saloon and that of a merchant tailor, when a party of friends came along (mostly married men). Joe wanted to "treat," and thinking of the families of his friends, he stepped into the tailor's and said: "Come in, gentlemen, and take something with me." The gentlemen asked what here was to "take" in a tailor shop. "Oh," said Joe, "take a necktie. They will not hurt you!" And he treated each of the party to a handsome necktie. and walked away doubtless feeling better and more frisky than if he had treated to tangle-foot

The following is from the Jewish Chronicle: "I shall not intrude, ladies. The words, accompanied by smiles, were lately spoken by a person to two ladies, one a countess, the other a princess. The powerful personage was Rothschild, the two ladies had come as-beggars. Evidently, they did not beg for themselves but for a hospital to be erected at Ischl. Such begging is very laudable, and Rothschild did not delay in taking his pen to sign the list of subscriptions. But just before he took the pen from the inkstand he asked-" Excuse me ladies, is the hospital to be inter-communal? that is, will patients be accepted that do not belong to the Catholic religion?" The ladies became confused, but had to admit that only Catholic patients will have the benefit of the hospital. "Then, ladies, I shall not intrude," said Rothschild, and he laid down the pen. The ladies understood him without further comment and departed.

A WASHINGTON TERRITORY CALL ANSWERED .-The Philadelphia Sanday Dispatch gets off the

fullowing "A newspaper in Washington Territory ap-peals to the East to 'Send us Wives!' The editor is probably not aware that polygamy is prohibited in this part of the country, and that it will consequently be impossible for any generous, whole-souled philanthropist among us to comply with his request. Hardly any man here has more wives than he absolutely wants. The practice of marrying half a dozen at a time was abandoned as soon as it was discovered that William Penn of Land adjoining the Government Garden, and fronting School left so many widows that charitable people were and Fort Streets—at the head of the latter. compelled to build the Penn Widows Asylum in order to give them a decent and comfortable home. Now, if it had been mothers-in-law that they want in Washington Territory, there would have been no trouble. Almost any man can spare a mother-in-law, and we know a man who has been married several times who would be willing to send three or four away to a distant land forever and ever, to oblige a friend. We are not entirely destitute of generosity, here at the East."

JUDD & LAYTON'S

THE CLIMATE OF THESE ISLANDS is noted the world over for general salubrity, while certain particular localities in the group are more especially favorably known. The district of Roma, on the lee side of Hawali, has long been famed as a place of resort for those afflicted with affections of the lungs. Not a few cases have been known of persons who had been given over as sure to die, by their physicians in California, after a few months residence in the pure, mild air of Kona, recovering robust health and taking a new lesse of life.

The undersigned, at his commodious house at Kaawaloa, South Kona, is prepared to furnish good accommodations to boarders at the low rate of $5 per week; including good saddle horses when desired, and good fresh water baths, on the premises, also within a short distance of fine use bathing. The steamer Kilauea runs regularly between Honolulu and the port of Kaawaloa, and horses are kept ready at the beach. Every accommodation and comfort in the way of diet. MILK and HONEY in abundance. Delightful rides in the neighborhood.
